MESSAGE FROM THE FOUNDER FATHER BODHISUKHA SCHOOL, BARASAT, KOLKATA

Ven. Dr. Nando Batha Founder & Chairman

Dear readers,

Warm greetings to all of you!

Bodhisukha School was established in the year 2001 and now I am overwhelmed to declare that the school is one of the prestigious senior secondary CBSE affiliated institution in Barasat, Kolkata.

As an educator, I firmly believe that the purpose of education is not to fill the minds of students with facts...it is to teach them to think for themselves and for others. It was my golden dream to establish an educational institution with this ideology to nourish and nurture the potential of individuals to the extent of perfection. Today, I am overwhelmed to see my dreams gradually taking shape into reality with each passing day. At present, Bodhisukha School is one of the fastest developing schools in Kolkata because of the dedicated efforts and high standards it has set for itself in imparting quality education and living up to its motto - 'What we think, We Become'.

I give my blessings to the students, teachers, staff, guardians and those associated with this institution. I pray and thank the Almighty for the past and place ourselves under his protection and guidance for the future. May His divine magnanimity, continues to lead and guide this prestigious institution for generations to come.

Ven. Dr. Nando Batha

Mr. Shib Shankar Das

Dear students, always remember that nothing stays forever- neither success nor failure. The only thing that is constant in life is change. We have to accept the changes and challenges of life and be mentally focused, firm and determined. Keep learning about new things, God has created infinite capacity in you, make use of it; handle adverse situations fearlessly. In the words of Mahatma Gandhi, "Live as if you were to die tomorrow but learn as if you were to live forever". I am confident that if you cherish and live these values, you will go a long way and achieve success in all spheres of life.

Wishing you all the very best!

A warm welcome to everyone. Last year because of the covid-19 pandemic we could not celebrate our annual function. The annual report cards of the session 2019-20 were viewed by guardians online. Hard copy of the report cards were distributed in the month of October before the puja holidays. In order to ensure the continuity of students learning and effective teaching activities during the lockdown period we launched online classes. Students had their online classes in the core subjects through Zoom Cloud Meeting app and BDS app was used to give assignments, project works etc. The schedule for the classes and the corresponding links for the online classes were sent through the BDS app. Through online we have tried to excel in academics as well as sports and other co-curricular activities which would provide scope for all round development of our students in the areas of their specific interests. Our annual report will help us to appreciate how much thus far we have achieved individually and as a school and at the same time, enable us to understand how far we can go by using our full potential.

SCHOOL FUNCTIONS

This year, with the school shut due to the pandemic, all kinds of celebrations had to be shifted to the virtual platform, with all kinds of events- ranging from cultural performances to debates- all were planned and executed digitally. However, we chose the virtual platform to celebrate all the events that we would have otherwise celebrated in our school campus if the situation was normal. Moreover, we wanted to ensure that our students don't miss out the fervor of celebrating these programs when the physical celebrations were not possible. This allowed our students a refreshing respite from the boredom associated with staying indoors and not being able to meet their friends in school.

RABINDRA JAYANTI

MAY

On 8th May, RabindraJayanti was the first event that we celebrated online and which is still available in the Facebook page and 'YouTube' channel of Bodhisukha School. Students from Play group to XII participated in this virtual event. It was a wonderful experience for all as the pandemic turned us towards the real digital world. Students from their homes performed several Rabindra sangeet ,Rabindranirtya and recited poems of Rabindranath Tagore. The program started with our manager sir Mr SHIB SANKAR DAS's speech and ended with the national anthem played by our student from Ukg A. In the pandemic situation, we faced difficulty in delivering books and stationary items but still we managed. However, we used to post all study materials, images of the lessons, home assignments and other crucial learning materials in our E-diary and BDS app to facilitate the teaching-learning process throughout this academic session. Our Chairman Sir, had provided essentials such as rice, pulses during the pandemic situation to the staff members and people who were nearby. This act of kindness helped several people during the difficult times.

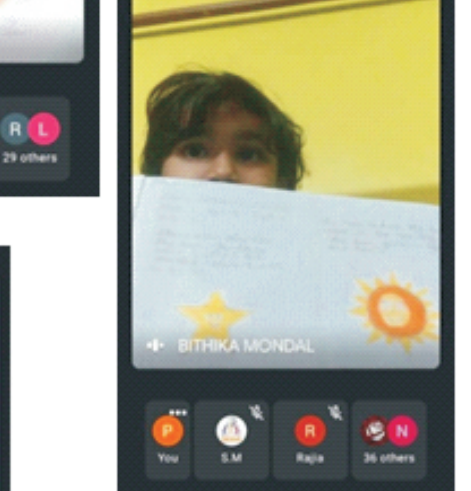

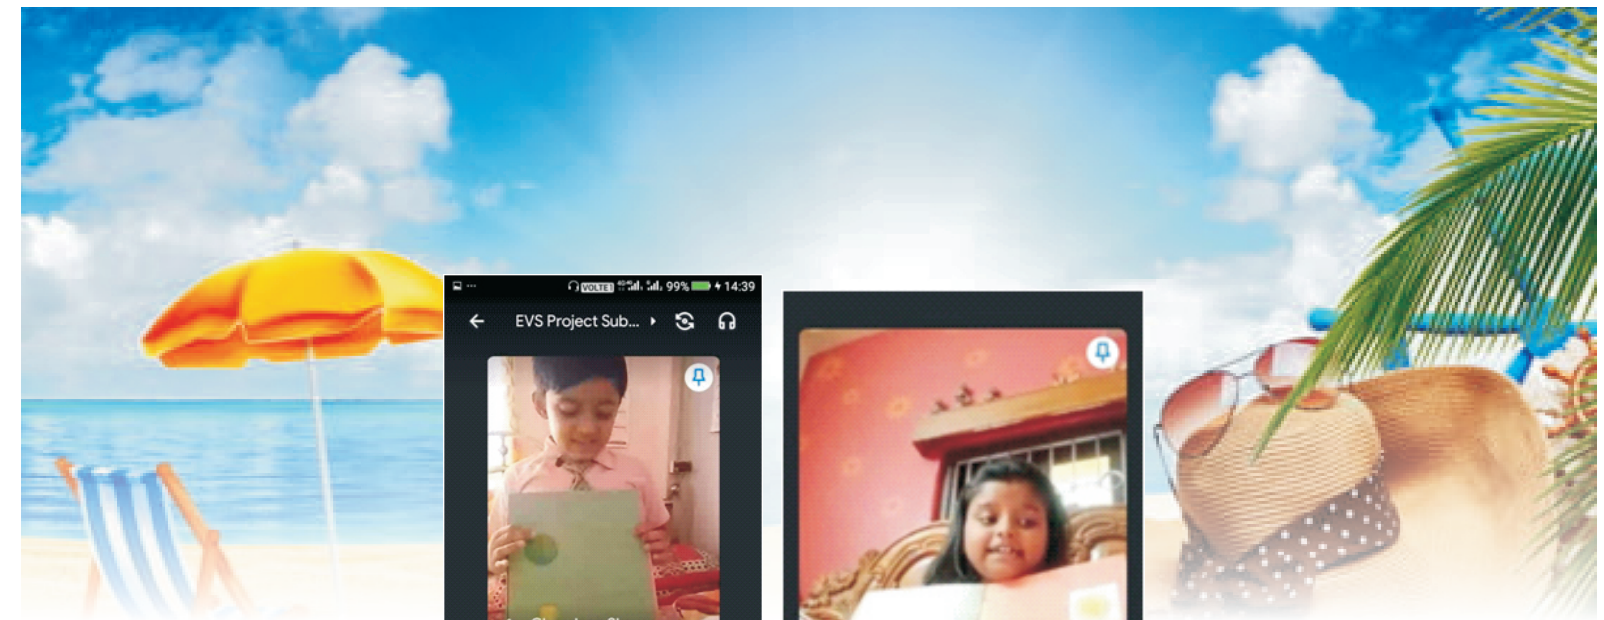

বিশ্বনাথস্বামী

This year, we had a very short summer vacation and we resumed our online classes from 11th June, 2020. In order to ensure that our students are equipped to face any challenge we have emphasized on a number of students enrichment programs, by involving them in various activities, like preparing projects, charts, models and others by using the help of digital platform.

JUNE In order to ensure overall development of our students even in the lockdown, we conducted our house and club meetings regularly. House Meets were conducted to make necessary discussions related to inter-house competitions. We allowed our students to participate in various inter-house competitions to offer them a chance to display their talent but also help them learn valuable lessons on team work and selfless service even during the trying times. Respective House Masters of all the four houses (Red, Green, Blue & Yellow respectively), posted the links for their house meetings in BDS app. The Club masters of the six clubs ie., Singing, Dancing, Recitation, Drama, Art & Craft and Yoga Club also posted the zoom links in BDS app. Students belonging to the respective Houses and Clubs actively participated in all these meetings. On 20st June, 2020, school celebrated online yoga day, under the guidance of our Physical education teacher, Mr. Biswas. Our students performed various yoga asana which was really entertaining and interesting to watch and learn. The students also gave a speech on the benefits of yoga. It was a house competition. The winner of the event was Red House. Students were given certificates. The COVID 19 had turned the world upside down. In this topsy-turvy world, we at Bodhisukha School decided to be more creative on the virtual platform and tried to channelize the focus of our students towards the need to save the resources and reconnect with nature. On 30th June, 2020, we celebrated 'Environmental Day' virtually. House wise our students participated in this program. The students were requested to prepare 4 charts and 4 models from each house and submit a video of 2minutes duration. The students were excited to be a part of this virtual celebration. They received proper guidelines, assistance and support of their respective House Masters. Unique efforts were taken by the students to prepare beautiful charts and models based on the themes selected by each House. It allowed them to showcase their creativity while being confined in their houses amidst the lockdown period and imbibe environmental consciousness which was the need of the hour. It was an inter house competition. The house winner was Yellow House.

Gratitude to Ganga!!!

Oh Ganga!!! I know not how you flow
so placidly across the belts of this intricate land
of magnificence!
I know not how the droplets of your auspicious gleam
splatter athwart the horizon of this dexterous valley of exuberance!!
All what I know is that a sight of yours brings a slice of profundity in my heart and presents me a sliver of astonishment.

The waves of your sternum keep oscillating through the presence of my being.
The hymns of your sanctity keep resonating
through the rampart of my vivacity!
The fragrance of your waves keeps proliferating
through the realms of my cognizance.
You have nurtured me in your glorified breast
Oh, Sacred Mother!!!!
Hence,
The sense of my existence is deficient
without the presence of your exalted benediction.

You, the creator of life around the steppe
have spawned the seed of subsistence
in the midst of this shore of susceptibility.

You, the begetter of alimentionation have bedecked the land with astounding wonders of assortments!!
Your eminence has garnished this ravine with rattling events of splendour and has made the mankind jubilant!!!!

The Mud which builds our huts,
is gleaned out of your basin.
The Water which quenches our thirst
is your precious boon.
The Grains which plenish our hunger
get affluence by your touch.
Every single nuance of our lives remains adorned by your exquisite glint oh Mother!
Hence,
The melody of our advent and exeunt
gets acquainted by your eternal stream!!!

We feel blessed to have taken birth
in your propitious lap Oh Goddess!!
The montage of our unpretentious moments
get ornamented by the nudge of your sulking tides.
The strand of our bliss and grief
gets exclaimed by the rippling of your cascade.
May the flow of your prosperous surge drift forever across this gorge of sagacity!!
This land of eminence bids Homage to you
Oh, Holy Mother!!!!

Four Literary Geniuses Circumscribing

MY INTELLECTUAL ENTITY

The stream “Humanities” particularly is not considered to be a clever choice for pursuing Higher studies by most of the people of our sub-continent. Science appears to be a much more practical and feasible career choice for the majority of the population. I myself have received many inquisitive glances and inquiries for choosing Humanities in class 11th after scoring 96% marks in CBSE Class 10 Boards! That's a quite natural and inevitable repercussion of making uncommon academic choices but I personally don't regret the decision at all as Humanities is the stream which actually fascinates me. The pivotal force behind my opting Humanities in class 11 was pursuing Literature for my higher studies. Literature has always been my favourite realm, the domain where I am completely comfortable and acquainted. But, literature for me is not limited or constrained among a few languages of cultures. For me literature is universal and the only intimate language or medium which can connect people across the whole world indiscriminate of caste, race, religion, ethnicity, gender and so on. So, in this article, I will showcase four of my all-time favourite writers across different countries, languages and styles. This can be considered as an auspicious offering to all of my readers from my side as a scholar of World Literature.

William Shakespeare: This name is most probably recognised by all the literature admirers across the world. (Even the laymen who may not conceive any knowledge or interest about literature) Many people must not have read Shakespeare directly but they must have surely heard “To be, or Not to be; That is the Question” at least once in their lives, such is the intoxication of The Bard on all of us. Shakespeare is one of the most important playwrights, poets and overall literary persons to me for various reasons. Firstly, the intricacy of his language, the free-flowing usage of Iambic Pentameter and the delicate treatment of poetry are some of the instances which distinguish him from all other playwrights or poets of his contemporary time and even modern literature. Secondly, the handling of characters, Shakespeare has created enormous memorable characters across his huge body of work. From the amiable Robin Goodfellow or Puck (A Midsummer Night's Dream) to the hypnotizing Prospero (The Tempest). From the fantabulous Mark Antony (Julius Caesar) to the haunting Lady Macbeth (Macbeth). [Don't forget “Hamlet”, the uncrowned king of Shakespearean Tragedy] All these characters have left long-lasting or everlasting (to be more specific) impacts on the hearts and minds of millions of readers and scholars across the World since centuries. (The real number is uncountable actually). The third and most significant element which makes Shakespeare so special to me is his surprising and refreshing Contemporariness. After passing so many centuries, his writings are still so contemporary and relevant in today's literary and practical society. Some of his most significant works include: Hamlet, Macbeth, Othello, Julius Caesar, Romeo and Juliet, Antony and Cleopatra, The Tempest and A Midsummer Night's Dream. (Don't forget Shakespearean Sonnets)

“This above all: to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.”

— William Shakespeare, Hamlet

1.Rabindranath Tagore: If one name represents Indian Literature in its full stature, then is undoubtedly Tagore! The first Indian, Asian and also non-European to be awarded the Noble Prize in literature. (Tagore is the one and only Indian to be awarded the Noble Prize for Literature since 1913). He is that one literary person who had enough courage and self-respect to reject or return his Knighthood after the Jallianwala Bagh Massacre. His poetries, short stories, novels, dramas and songs have inspired multiple generations of literature admirers. For me, he is the eternal friend, philosopher, guide without whom I can't survive may be, Tagore's poetry has turned into a necessity for my wellbeing, it can be allegorised as my intellectual, mental and emotional Oxygen. There is not a single day that I pass without reading and thinking about Tagore. His writing style, philosophical outlook and unending mystics makes him so essential and contemporary to me. He has created some of the most powerful and dignified Female characters in the history of Indian Literature including: Binodini from Chokher Bali, Bimola from Ghare Bairey, Damini from Chaturanga, Labanya from ShesherKabita, Ela from Char Adhyay, Charulata from Nashtanirh and many more. All these qualities make him the Eternal Gurudev of Indian and Asian Literature.

Some of his important works: Novels- Chokher Bali, Ghare Bairey, Gora, Chaturanga, ShesherKabita. Short Stories: Postmaster, Kabuliwala, Chhuti, Manihara, Samapti and many more. Drama: Raktakarabi (Red Oleanders), TasherDesh (The Kingdom of Cards), Dakghor (The Postoffice) and many more. (Don't forget Tagore's poetry and intricate songs, which are perfect examples of harmony among musicality and poetry.)

“Where the mind is without fear and the head is held high
Where knowledge is free
Where the world has not been broken up into fragments
By narrow domestic walls
Where words come out from the depth of truth
Where tireless striving stretches its arms towards perfection”

Fyodor Dostoyevsky: When it comes to Russian Literature, the first two names which strike our minds are Leo Tolstoy and Anton Chekhov, two of the brightest names of Russian literature. Tolstoy's novels (Anna Karenina, War and Peace for instance) and Chekhov's enormous number of brilliant short stories and plays have ornamented the world of Russian Literature since centuries now. But one name which often goes unpronounced is of Fyodor Dostoyevsky, the originator of Modern European Existentialist literature. Dostoyevsky's writing explores human psyche, socio-political and spiritual atmosphere with a variety of Philosophical and Religious themes. Some times I get confused while reading Dostoyevsky whether I am reading a fiction or a detailed work of Human Psychopathology by a renowned Psychologist!! Famous philosopher and psychologist Fredrick Nietzsche once described Dostoyevsky as, “The only Psychologist from whom I

I have anything to learn.” The element of Dostoyevsky's literature which fascinates me the most is the amalgamation of existentialism, mysticism and Psychic exploration. His characters are often so intricately crafted that they don't seem to be fictitious characters and start haunting us as living beings. Whenever I suffer any emotional turmoil, whenever I am in a grief-stricken condition, I keep going back to Dostoyevsky to be pacified as he is the only person who understands my emotional and psychic ailments so effortlessly. Every time I turn some of the pages of his novella Notes from Underground, tears conquer my eyes and my mind shivers in utter amazement, “How can a person of 19th century who died in 1881, about 123 years before I was born, can understand my feelings so intricately.” When I put down the book, what remains with me is Dostoyevsky's spiritual essence and an obscure confusion!!!!

Some of his important works include: Crime and Punishment, The Idiot, The Brother Karamazov (which is considered by many literary critics and readers to be the best novel ever written in the history of World Literature) and Notes from Underground.

“Pain and suffering are always inevitable for a large intelligence and a deep heart. The really great men must, I think, have great sadness on earth.”

— Fyodor Dostoevsky, Crime and Punishment

1.Franz Kafka: I am a kind of reader and scholar who doesn't have biasness or favouritism towards any particular writer or language in literature but still if somebody asks me “who is my most favourite writer of all”, then it must be Franz Kafka!!! My most intimate and personal writer whom I will prefer over any other writer across languages. Kafka was born as a German speaking Bohemian short story writer and novelist who lived in Prague for most of his intellectually productive years. He is considered to be one of the most important names in the history of German literature. I consider Kafka to be the harbinger of Modern European literature for several reasons. The primary reason behind this supposition is that his writing consists of an amalgamation all the central elements of Modern Literature including: Existentialism, Alienation, Mysticism, Nihilism, individualism, Surrealism and a perfect combination of Romanticism and Materialism. He is also considered to be the brightest name in the origination of Surrealistic literature. His novels are very hard to recapitulate and even creepy in some instances may be. The basic plot of his novels travel from Realism to Surrealism or from Conscious realm to the sub-conscious realm. His characters are often confused and bewildered across the novel (some of the important characters include- Gregor Samsa from Metamorphosis, Joseph K from The Trial, K from The Castle etc.) and after completing his novels or novellas we, the readers too often reside in an obscure, ambiguous, bewildering realm!!! That's the magic of Kafka. Reading at least one paragraph of Kafka every day gives me peace of mind and the strength to accommodate with the bewildering world.

Some of the important works of Kafka: Novels- The Trial, The Castle, Amerika- The Man who Disappeared.

Longer Stories: Metamorphosis, The Judgement, The Hunger Artist, In the Penal Colony, The Country Doctor etc.

Kafka's Flash fictions and are also important to understand his psychic exploration and don't forget about Kafka's Diary and letters!!!

“There they lay, but not in the forgetfulness of the previous night. She was seeking and he was seeking, they raged and contorted their faces and bored their heads into each other's bosom in the urgency of seeking something, and their embraces and their tossing limbs did not avail to make them forget, but only reminded them of what they sought”

— Franz Kafka, Franz Kafka's The Castle

CORONA AND HUMANITY: A WIDER PERSPECTIVE

Humanity's ego had negativity reached its extreme and prior to the beginning of the new decade. Technological advancements in the field of automobiles, pharmaceuticals, electronics and others had rocketed to sky high levels during the last decade. People had all the technology that they could even dream of. The environment as usual was neglected by one and all was in a horrendous condition with a huge spike in pollution levels with the release of CO₂, NO₂ and SO₂. Animal population had reached so low that even national parks and zoos did not have adequate numbers. Then came our 'Destroyer' and nature's 'Saviour', the 'Novel Coronavirus:COVID-19'. Nature is self-reliant, something which humans have failed to understand till date. Nature can take care of itself when exploited to certain extent. But the entire scenario changes when some humans try to satisfy their greed by mercilessly exploiting the nature, the price of which has to be paid by innocent others. Landslides due to excessive minning, floods due to deforestation are the worst hits. Even this COVID-19 pandemic with its destructive potential is a form of nature's wrath and retaliation which has been unreleased due to the eating habitual of some people and the remaining world is suffering for it. Even then the technological advancements of mankind stand futile especially when the world crucially needs it.

The lockdowns across countries has kept people in their homes for nearly five whole months putting a halt to all activities around the globe, providing nature the time it significantly needs for recuperation. Prior to the pandemic those animals which were long back driven out from their shelters due to the expanding urbanisation have also come back. This even includes the dolphins in the Marine Drive of Mumbai, deer in the holy mountain of Tirupati, even rhinos in Guwahati. Even people who use to travel around the world for their profession have also returned home. Having no time for themselves and their families, they have turned towards their beloved ones and their health and are having a great time altogether.

While there have been positive impacts on the lives of some, there also have been negative impacts on the lives of many. Most of these disadvantaged belong to the lower sections of the society which includes daily wage workers, household help and farmers among many. There are even people who had just begun to settle in their careers when this lightning struck them. Unemployment has rooted itself even more than ever. With no forms of work available in India especially, they are being forced back into their villages further slowing our country in the great race of nations. One of the fields which was unexpectedly and heavily affected is the field of education across the globe. Schools, colleges, universities have been forced to shut down due to the increased chance of spreading of the virus and the students had to return to their countries and homes to prevent the disease.

The online classes which have been introduced to carry forward education has put up its own set of challenges. Passive learning among the students and inexperience among the teachers are the major problems. Debut of certain teachers and students to this online form of education has resulted in this problem. The students are not able to absorb what is being taught due to the lack of interaction with their fellow classmates as well as teachers. Another problem is mainly concentrated among the people of the lower sections due to their inability to afford the devices required. However, to tackle this complication, the Government of India has launched certain TV channels for education specifically.

As a coin has two sides, similarly, this lockdown has also given a boost to several other industries and sectors which the normal conditions were unable to. E-commerce and pharmaceutical are the most successful ones. These industries have been given such a great boost that their services are being spread far and wide. Electronics sector which had shown a slow start initially, has also started to expand its sales. Through the food industry has had a setback due to no dine-ins possible, however home delivery of food also helped restaurants from shutting off down. With no sport being played with a live audience across the world, major sporting tournaments like Olympics has also been postponed. The organisations involved have also incurred huge losses.

The only thing that has benefited from this lockdown is our body and the environment. People who once never had time for their body now have nothing to do and have taken up various programmes for the benefit of their body. People have taken up yoga and various exercises for strengthening their core. The environment which neglected the most has made us realise the consequences of doing so. This time is also helping the environment in recovering from the mess that we humans have created is a great relief for environmentalists. Air quality has reached such high levels that it had not reached in over a decade. Due to the closure of factories, the water quality has also surged in an encouraging manner.

Nature always gives us certain signals whenever we overdo something, it is when we ignore these signals that mankind runs into such devastating pandemics and epidemic. Climate change is one such signal, if we do not attend to the signal, then no one knows what mother nature has her sleeve for us this time. As said wisely by Wangari Maathai, "The environment and the economy are really both sides of a coin. Of we cannot sustain the environment, we cannot sustain ourselves." We need to take care of nature in the same way we take care of our parents for it is this very parent that has always helped man in all endeavours.
